61. Gaggenau's Wine Climate Cabinets preserve, protect and – if glass doors are selected – present a wine collection. A choice of five glare-free lighting scenarios can be chosen using the TFT touch display, which also controls up to three independent climate zones. The stainless steel interior includes fully extendable oak and anthracite aluminum bottle trays. Further safeguards are provided by the cabinets' low vibration, humidity regulation and activated charcoal air filter.

62. Tru Marmi by Arizona Tile is a rectified glazed porcelain, crafted to simulate the appearance of natural stone marble. Unlike marble, however, Tru Marmi requires little maintenance and is more durable than its natural stone muse, the company reports. It is offered in five color variations and four sizes, including two available trim sizes. It is also offered in polished and matte finishes.

63. TOTO's new Kiwami Asymmetrical Vessel Lavatory celebrates the sculptural look of nature's elliptical shapes. Along the thinnest part of the lavatory's frame, the LINEARCERAM is approximately half the thickness of a conventional basin wall, yet the material has almost twice the tensile strength of fireclay, the company reports. The vessel also incorporates CEFIONTECT glaze, a proprietary technology for preventing debris from sticking to surfaces.

64. Inspired by an archival furniture hardware design, Sandrine from Belwith-Keeler is a modern interpretation of rustic hardware. Originally produced in the 1950s for a major furniture company, Sandrine was chosen by KBIS 2019 attendees to be released from the Belwith-Keeler Living Library as a revival of a legacy piece.

65. With its introduction of Full Body Veining Technology, Neolith by TheSize Surfaces is delivering the look of natural stone in its sintered stone product, notes the firm. Specially created for thicker slabs, the new technology will be incorporated into the company's color range, with the intention of launching new Neolith Full Body Veining collections in the future.

66. Ruvati's new Terraza Collection of modern farmhouse kitchen sinks includes metallic tones that break from traditional stainless. Using a nano-PVD finish, the stainless steel sink is overlaid with a colored finish in a Brass Tone Matte Gold finish, a Copper Tone Matte Bronze and a Matte Black Gunmetal. The sinks showcase a farmhouse style with a generous curved apron front, and are available in three sizes – 30", 33" and 36".

68. Designers can add geometric effects to floors and walls with Allora, an Italian-made matte porcelain tile available from Bedrosians Tile & Stone. Allora comes in three shapes: Rectangle, Rhomboid and Hexagon, in neutral colors of White, Gray and Black. The hexagon shapes also come in three deco options in Fiore (floral pattern), Stella (star pattern) and Telaio (hexagon pattern).

70. With a look fit for an industrial kitchen, but the reach and flexibility required for residential use, the Paterson spring kitchen faucet from Moen combines everyday industrial components – such as metal wands, bolt-inspired accents and a secondary optional spoke-and-wheel handle – into one distinctive style.
